

WARRINGTON BOROUGH COUNCIL
SPATIAL OPTIONS ASSESSMENT

Warrington Borough Council (“the Council”) has instructed BNP Paribas Real Estate to provide a high level viability appraisal of a range of growth scenarios to contribute to their options assessment work in respect of the Preferred Development Option for their new Local Plan.

We have prepared high level appraisals, proportionate in detail to the current stage in the Local Plan process. The Council’s assessment of deliverability is that the land value uplift of Green Belt land arising from planning permission for residential development can support infrastructure required to support growth without compromising development viability.

Following the Preferred Development Option consultation it will be necessary to undertake more detailed viability work in respect of the final development locations and sites to be allocated in the draft Local Plan. This will require the Council to confirm the detailed infrastructure requirements to support development, the costs of that infrastructure and the detailed phasing of development over the Plan period. BNP Paribas Real Estate will also be advising the Council on appropriate delivery mechanisms to ensure the timely delivery of necessary infrastructure.

Table 1 summarises the four development typologies we have tested at this stage which are reflective of the growth options the Council is considering.

Table 1: Development typologies

Typology	No of units	Schools	Other non-residential uses	Build period (years)	Density (units per net hectare)	Gross to net ratio	Additional land for community infrastructure	Total land required hectares
Incremental growth in outlying assessments	500	N/A	N/A	5	30	70%	N/A	23.8
Urban extension	1,400	1 x primary	N/A	10	30	70%	Primary Sch: 2 ha Local centre: 2 ha Local park: 10 ha	80.67
Large urban extension	2,800	2 x primary	N/A	15	30	70%	Primary Sch: 4 ha Local centre: 4 ha Local park: 20 ha	161.33
Garden City Suburb	6,000	4 x primary 1 x secondary	Leisure Centre Health Facility Sports pitches Country park District shopping centre	20	30	70%	Primary Sch: 8 ha Secondary Sch: 7 ha District centre: 25 ha Parks: 40 ha Local centres: 8 ha	373.71

The appraisals adopt the following assumptions:

- Private sales values averaging £2,650 per square metre, based on the values achieved for new build units on a range of developments of varying sizes over the last 12 months;
- 30% of units provided as affordable (50% rented and 50% intermediate);
- Base build costs of £1,050 per square metre;
- Additional on-site infrastructure and external works allowance of £20,000 per unit;
- Contingency of 5% to account for unknown costs;

- Professional and other fees: 9% of build costs;
- Finance at 6%;
- Profit: 17% on private housing and 6% on affordable housing;
- Marketing: 3% of GDV and sales legal fees of £800 per unit;

The appraisal results are summarised in Table 2 and the appraisals themselves are attached at Appendix 1. The table shows the residual land value for each site and the equivalent per gross hectare and per unit. The residual land values range from £0.55 million to £0.87 million per gross hectare which will need to fund the acquisition of the land and to contribute towards major infrastructure requirements. For the very large schemes, this incorporates significant land areas for community facilities including parks and schools.

In order to achieve sustainable growth, the Council will need to ensure that the share of any uplift in land value that accrues to landowners is minimised so that funding for infrastructure is maximised. Assuming that landowners receive a value of no more than ten times agricultural land value (which represents a competitive return in comparison to existing use), the Council could secure contributions of between £21,496 and £31,512 per unit through a combination of on-site community infrastructure and financial contributions to major off-site infrastructure.

Table 2: Appraisal results (present day values)

Typology	No of units	Residual land value	RLV per ha	RLV per unit	Min land value for landowner	Surplus for infrastructure	Surplus per unit
Incremental growth in outlying settlements	500	£20,754,106	£872,021.26	£41,508.21	£4,998,000	£15,756,106	£31,512
Urban extension	1,400	£50,071,518	£620,721.30	£35,765.37	£16,940,000	£33,131,518	£23,665
Large urban extension	2,800	£96,826,988	£600,167.28	£34,581.07	£33,880,000	£62,946,988	£22,481
Garden City Suburb <sup>1</sup>	6,000	£207,458,007	£555,124.64	£34,576.33	£78,480,000	£128,978,007	£21,496

It is important to consider the length of time over which the schemes will be developed and the potential for market change over that time. We have run an additional set of appraisals to illustrate the effect that real growth in sales values might have on the residual values and capacity for schemes to fund infrastructure. The analysis is based on real growth of 2% per annum (i.e. net of build cost inflation). It is important to note that this rate of real growth may not be achieved. The results are summarised in Table 3.

The results indicate that, based on the assumed level of real growth, residual land values could increase to a range of £0.92 million and £1.22 million per gross hectare. This would allow for contributions towards infrastructure of between £39,296 and £63,181 per unit.

<sup>1</sup> In practice, it is likely that the Garden City Suburb will be delivered by a number of developers in separate development parcels.

Table 3: Results of sensitivity analysis (real growth on sales values of 2% per annum)

Typology	No of units	Residual land value	RLV per ha	RLV per unit	Min land value for landowner	Surplus for infrastructure	Surplus per unit
Incremental growth in outlying settlements	500	£24,646,221	£1,035,555.50	£49,292.44	£4,998,000	£19,648,221	£39,296.44
Urban extension	1,400	£74,040,609	£917,858.79	£52,886.15	£16,940,000	£57,100,609	£40,786.15
Large urban extension	2,800	£167,906,365	£1,040,741.93	£59,966.56	£33,880,000	£134,026,365	£47,866.56
Garden City Suburb	6,000	£457,567,549	£1,224,378.00	£76,261.26	£78,480,000	£379,087,549	£63,181.26

In light of the sensitivity of the results to changes in values, the Council will need to ensure that positive movements in market values of residential units do not simply feed into increasing payments for land, so that the maximum possible amount can be used to fund infrastructure. The Council will need to consider the appropriate mechanism for this ahead of the preparation of the draft Local Plan.
